AMERICAN OPINION IN SURVEY OF PROBABLE SILVER ACTION

MOLLISONS PREPARING FOR AIR RACE

The Stratosphere To Be Next Step.

IN RELATION TO HIGH SPEED OF AEROPLANES

London, Yesterday.
The stratosphere is the next step in the opinion of Mrs. Amy Mollison, the famous flyer, who arrived in London to-day after a holiday in the United States.
She was accompanied by her husband, Mr. J. A. Mollison, who met her at Southampton.
Mrs. Mollison declared that she was now well and strong. She and her husband would prepare for the air race to Australia this year, and after that she thought that the stratosphere was an idea for experiment.

WARNING BY CHANCELLOR OF EXCHEQUER

Too High Expectations
In Budget.

AEROPLANE NO SUBSTITUTE FOR CRUISER

London, Yesterday.
A warning against too high expectations in the Budget, was uttered by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, yesterday, in a speech at Plymouth.

He said that nobody was more anxious than he was to mitigate the heavy burden of taxation and to restore the cuts in pay as soon as and as far as they could when they felt that they could safely do so, with due regard to the soundness of the country's finances.

Certain charges, however, continued to increase automatically, and next year were bound to cost more than the present.

Then the position of the defence forces must be considered. Reductions of expenditure by the postponement of building and stores could not indefinitely be continued.

Referring to the outcry for a larger Air Force, Mr. Chamberlain remarked that the aeroplane was no substitute for a cruiser.— Reuter.

LONDON SILVER MARKET.

Prices Decline.

London, Yesterday.
Spot and forward silver prices declined 1/6 in London, to-day.

Closing prices were as follows:—
Feb. 23 Feb. 24
Spot ..... 20% 20.9/16
Forward .. 20.11/16 20%

The London on New York cross rate remained unchanged on yesterday's quotation, closing at $-U.S. 6.07 1/2.—Our Own Correspondent.

M.C.C. WIN BY 8 RUNS

Close Encounter Against India-Ceylon XI.

MARRIOTT AND CLARK
DO WELL

Colombo, Yesterday.

The M.C.C. touring eleven were given a fright to-day before they beat the Combined India and Ceylon team, which included five Test cricketers, by the narrow margin of eight runs.

The tourists batted first and totalled 155 against accurate bowling by Amar Singh, the All-India player, who took 6 for 62.

C. S. Marriott was largely responsible for trundling the combined team out for 104, taking 4 for 37, but the M.C.C. totalled only 78 in their second venture, thus losing their grip on the game.

Faced with the task of scoring 130 to win the home team were dismissed for 121. Clark, the Northants fast bowler, taking 4 for 38.—Reuter.

BRITISH CABINET CHANGE.

Sir John Simon May Go To Home Office.

CURBING FASCIST MOVEMENT

London, Yesterday.

The translation of the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, to the Home Office, in order to deal with the Fascist movement, is, it is hinted in
"The Times," to-day, which remarks that there is no department in the Government for which his profound legal knowledge more obviously fits him.—Reuter.

The present Secretary for Home Affairs is Sir John Gilmour.

CANADA WAITING FOR BRITAIN.

Relationship Regarding Re-Valued Gold.

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegra-

ceived February 24, 9.53 a.m.)

Ottawa, Yesterday.
It is understood that Canada will wait until Great Britain establishes a definite relationship regarding re-valued of gold and will then take a position with due regard to Canada's international obligations.—United Press, per S.C.

NO BIMETALLISM OR SY-METALLISM?

CONGRESS FACE PAPER CURRENCY OR SILVER

APPROVAL OF LEGISLATION

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL AND SUNDAY HERALD.

WASHINGTON, YESTERDAY.

QUESTIONED BY THE UNITED PRESS IN A SURVEY OF PROBABLE SILVER ACTION IN THE UNITED STATES. THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES SPEAKER, MR. RAINES, SAID:—

"UNDOUBTEDLY THERE IS A RISING TIDE THROUGHOUT THE NATION FAVOURING SILVER ACTION, WHICH IS RE-FLECTED IN CONGRESS.

"I, PERSONALLY, FAVOUR THE HEAVY PURCHASE OF SILVER AND THE ISSUANCE OF CERTIFICATES AGAINST IT,
BUT THERE IS NO PUBLIC INDICATION OF THE ADMINIS-TRATION'S ATTITUDE, SO IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO ANTICIPATE ANY CONGRESS ACTION."

Mr. Elmer Walzer financial editor of the "United Press," said:

"There probably will be no bimetallism or sy-metallism. My opinion is that the Government is planning to sequester silver in the same manner as gold, embargoing exports and imports and paying probably as much as 50 cents per ounce for the present supplies."

"They may increase the price of newly-mined metal to a 16 to 1 ratio, with U.S. $35 gold, retaining half the seignorage.

"They may then increase the silver certificates proportionately to the amount of metal sequestered, giving new silver certificates for silver."

The House of Representatives
member, Mr. Fiesinger, said:

"I am satisfied that we are going to use silver. Congress will ultimately be faced with the choice of paper currency or silver.
I do not want paper, but want substance of silver."

"When the country and Congress understand that it is a question of paper inflation or silver, Congress will approve some silver legislation."

The House of Representatives member, Mr. Somers, expressed an opinion that the most proper immediate action would be the extension of the Government's silver purchasing plan to all the silver in the world, whether old or newly-mined, with the Government making a seignorage and handling cost sufficient to protect against future speculation in silver.

"My impression is, that the stabilisation fund could be used to buy silver. The Act specifies gold and foreign exchange, but foreign exchange means silver, because silver is money and exchange in China," he declared.

"I do not know whether legislation will be enacted immediately," he continued,
"but in my opinion, the longer we delay help for silver, the more we encourage the dislocation of industrial functions."

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR SILVER ACTION.

Determined Effort To Be Made Next Week.

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received February 24, 9.45 a.m.)

Washington, Yesterday.
The House of Representatives member, Mr. Murdock, author of the symmetrical plan for the dollar base yesterday told the United Press that the outlook was more favourable for House action for silver legislation than ever before.

"The Coinage Committee is anxious to take action, and there will be a determined effort next week to agree to some Bill and report—
United Press per S.C. Gold Bar Co.

REQUIREMENTS FOR SOUND BASIS

$10,000,000 Needed In Gold And Silver.

ADDITIONAL SILVER WANTED

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegra-

ceived February 24, 9.45 a.m.)

Washington, Yesterday.
The Walter Trent, the New York analytical engineer and inventor, yesterday told the House of Representatives Coinage Committee that the United States need U. S. $10,- 000,000 in gold and silver reserves for a permanently sound basis.

The country now has U. S. $5,- 000,000,000 in gold and U. S.
$860,000,000 in silver, but should obtain U. S. $4,000,000,000 worth of additional silver.—United Press per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

AMERICAN SILVER LEGISLATION.

"Impossible To Predict."

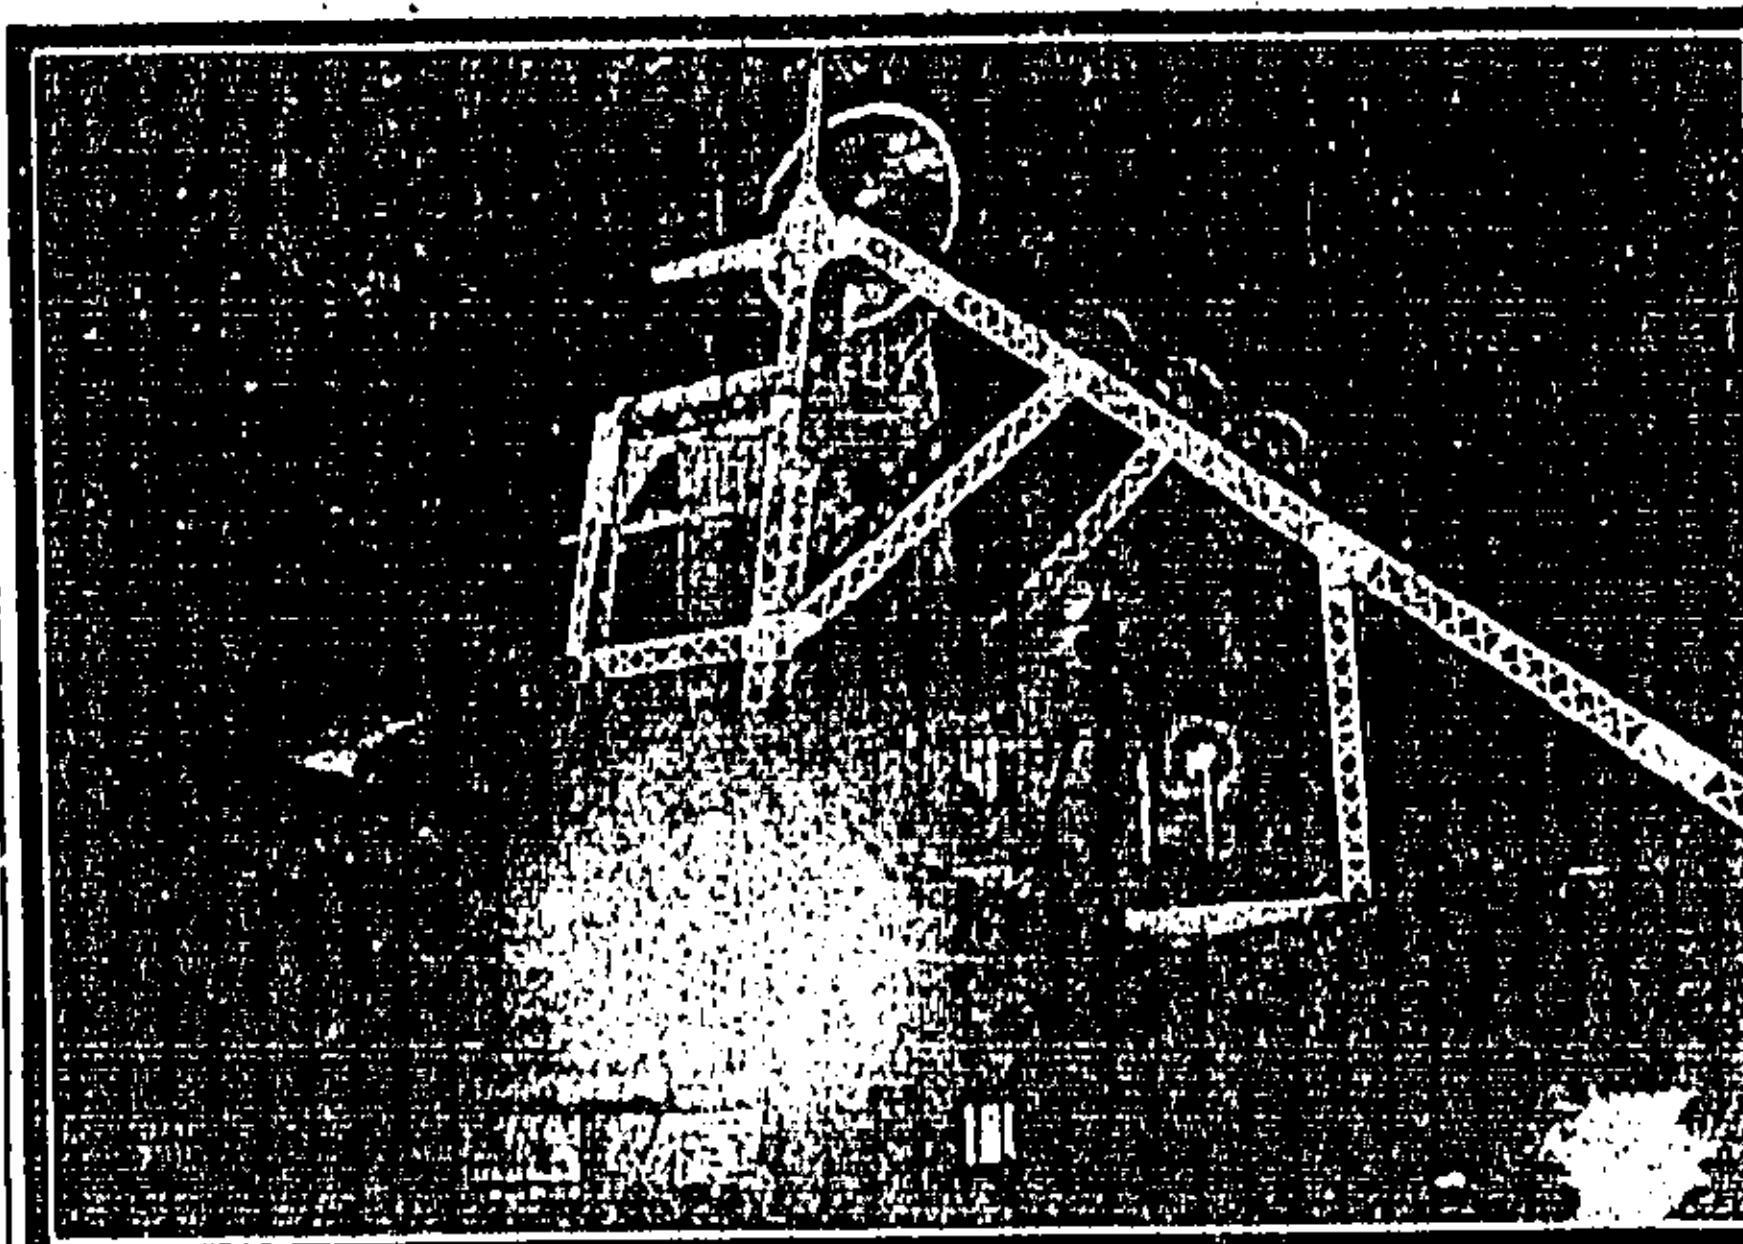

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received February 24, 9.45 a.m.)

Washington, Yesterday.
Mr. John Janney, Chairman of the American Society of Practical Economists, and a frequent expert witness before the House of Representatives Coinage Committee, yesterday told the United Press that it was impossible to predict what silver legislation would be taken this session.

He said that the Congressional Conservatives had become silver advocates for the purpose of restoring the gold standard and saving the world from the tragedy of managed currency.—United Press,
per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

H.M.S. Cornwall, which went Home to be refitted and recommissioned for further service on the China Station, arrived in the Colony from Singapore yesterday morning. She is of the Fifth Cruiser Squadron.

Something new in flood-lighting spectacles is now visible to passengers on the L.M.S. Railway between Sheffield and Leeds.
Big beams cast their rays on the headgear and surface equipment of the Houghton Main Colliery, a mile north of Darfield, near Leeds.—(S. & G.).

JAPAN PLAN TARIFF BARRIER

Legislation to Control Exports and Imports

Tokyo, Yesterday.
In view of the measures which some countries are adopting to check the imports of Japanese merchandise, it is learned that the Japanese Government is drafting legislation to control the export and import trade and to revise tariff rates.—Reuter.

"HUNGER MARCHERS" IN LONDON

City Police Called Out En Bloc.

BIG MEETING IN HYDE PARK TO-MORROW

London, Yesterday.

The Metropolitan Police are making quiet but extensive arrangements to deal with the 10 contingents of so-called "hunger marchers" who are converging on London from all parts of the country for the meeting in Hyde Park tomorrow, where they will be addressed from eight platforms by prominent Labour members and Communists.

A resolution will then be adopted, protesting against the Unemployment Bill.

The contingents are expected to remain in the metropolis for at least ten days, during which time special constables will be on duty. All leave of the regular police force has been cancelled.—
Reuter.

Denied Audience With Prime Minister.

London, Yesterday.
The British Premier, Mr.
Ramsay MacDonald, has refused to receive a deputation of the so-called "hunger marchers" who have arrived in London from all parts of the country to demonstrate against the Government's Unemployment Bill.

The letter of refusal states that the deputation can do no service to the unemployed, stating: "The Communist purpose of these marches is common knowledge."
It adds that the Unemployment
Bill now before the House of Commons will facilitate more satisfactory treatment of the whole question of unemployment.—Reuter.

BRITAIN'S TRADE WITH CHINA

Direct Dealings Urged To Cut Costs.

MR. TU YUEH-LEE'S ADDRESS

London, Yesterday.

Mr. Tu Yueh-lee, manager of the Bank of China, in London, addressing the Manchester Bankers' Institute, this afternoon, urged direct trading between the manufacturers of Great Britain and the Chinese importers, to reduce the costs of goods.

The modern Chinese banks, he said, were ready to assist with information of any Chinese firm's financial standing, and the Government was firmly resolved to facilitate commerce and to ensure proper settlement of legal disputes.
—Reuter.

NEW CONSTITUTION FOR CHINA.

Important Rulings For Government Elections.

MILITARY GOVERNORS
BARRED

Nanking, Yesterday.

The new constitution for China is finally beginning to take shape after months of careful deliberation by a special committee of the Executive Yuan.

It is learned that the provisions include that the Chairman of the Government must be elected by the National People's Congress, and also that no military man may be appointed Provincial Governor within three years from his retirement from active service.—Reuter.

CHINA'S SILK INDUSTRY.

Finance Vote Urged
For 3-Year Plan.

Canton, Yesterday.

According to the Silk Bureau of Reconstruction, the $2,000,- 000 which the Bureau urges the National Economic Council in Nanking to appropriate, will be divided into three parts to be used in three years.

In the first year $600,000 will be used for improving sericulture, $550,000 for promoting silk industry in the second year, and $850,000 for extending the domestic and foreign silk trade in the third year.

FASCISTS' SUMMARY "JUSTICE"

Offending Member Maltreated.

FORCED TO DRINK HALF PINT OF CASTOR OIL

London, Yesterday.

An amazing story was told at Westminster Police Court, to-day, of an alleged assault by a number of Fascists against a member named Richardson, who is reported to have revealed information concerning the movement to a newspaper.

The prosecution alleged that Richardson was taken into the office of the Chief of Staff, where he was abused and deprived of his membership badge, after which he was taken to a cellar where he was required to remove his hat and coat.

He was then assaulted and thrown to the ground and forced to swallow half a pint of castor oil.

Finally, he was released with an order to say that his injuries were due to an accident, "or he would get something worse."
Richardson, who informed the police, was taken to hospital where it was found that his injuries were fairly serious, a stomach pump revealing a harmful quantity of castor oil.—Reuter.

SOVIET OFFICIALS RELEASED.

Big Step In C.E.R.
Pacification.

DETAINED FOR SIX MONTHS

Harbin, To-day.

The six Soviet officials of the Chinese Eastern Railway, who were arrested on September 24, last year, by the Manchukuo authorities, have been released.—Reu-
ter.

Intimation that the move would be made was revealed by the Japanese Foreign Office, yesterday, following the presentation, on Thursday evening, by the Soviet Ambasador to Tokyo, of conditions for release which were acceptable to Japan.

The employees were alleged to have been arrested for having committed crimes and abused confidence, but in a subsequent statement made by a Manchukuo representative, it was stated that the men were being detained for enquiries regarding suspected transgression of duties.

SOCIAL WELFARE IN PRISONS.

Handicraft Training For Canton Convicts.

MONEY VOTE ADOPTED

Canton, Yesterday.

Yesterday's meeting of the Provincial Judicial Conference was attended by 14 attorneys of local courts, besides Mr. Luk Chitsing, who presided, and judges and procurators of the Provincial Court.

A number of proposals were adopted at the meeting, among them being the appropriation of funds for the establishment of work-shops for prisoners and the training of prisoners in handicraft.—Central Press.

Turtle, Turtle, Shining Bright

By James Dalziel.

JASPER JOHNES is a realist. Though he may not so express himself yet, as the dictionary has it, he believes in the "intuitive cognition of external objects." His reaction to the turtle is similar to that of the Cockney after contemplating the giraffe in the Zoo—"There ain't no such beast." He is firmly persuaded that turtle meat and soup never existed outside a tin-can, and are the invention of Messrs. Crosse and Blackwell, London, England. Also that turtle eggs, like golf balls, are a side-line of the Dunlop Rubber Company. This after all of last summer's week-ends spent in hunting this historic and gargantuan but elusive tortoise, without even the sight of the back of one floating off-shore in the moonlit blue. So anyone who talks turtle-hunts to Johnes today is certain to hear wicked words and even risks assault and battery. But at the end of the season Johnes got some of his own back on certain enthusiasts, and the way of it is hereinafter placed on record.

Now I don't want to fall out with Johnes. He is an old friend and one of the best—and he is ten years younger and weighs two stone more than I do. So you can believe me that in telling this tale I have got to punch the type-writer with circumspection, and you will understand why, as far as this story is concerned, the turtle is a mythological entity in the same category as the mylodon, the great auk, and the Peak Tiger. You may even think that the superfluity of adjectives qualifying any mention of the insect in question argues a certain pusillanimity on my part; but then—perhaps you don't know Johnes!

The trouble started when Johnes joined a Club whose members go down to the sea in little ships for the joy of it, and was given to understand while consuming certain golden drinks as the golden sun went down on the golden verandah that on the outlying beaches turtles lay around "thick as leaves in Vallombrosa." All you needed was a boat and a bamboo pole, and the patience to lie still on the moonlit sand till a turtle came up out of the sea and bit you. Then you woke up, and with your pole turned the confiding crustacean over on its back, when the boat-boys carried this perambulating provision store to the boat while you stalked behind whistling "The Grand March of The Aldermen."

So Johnes went out, and saw a man, and bought a boat: a motor boat, for the mystery of wind and sail had been omitted from his education. A motor boat—of sorts; with a large, noisy but efficient engine in the front end, and a large, silent but efficient ice-chest in the tail end, and a place in between to eat and sleep. And as Johnes said—"Wot'nell more d'ye want of a boat to go out in catch turtles?"

Then Johnes, like the business man he was, looked round for expert assistance; and behold, here was Broom, the super-expert, with more (alleged) turtles to his credit than any man between Shaikwan and West Point, yea, from the Praya to the Peak and even unto the purlieus thereof. And Broom, having cognisance of the large, silent but efficient ice-chest on the tail-end of the good ship "Lady Lazy" was more than willing.

Now the months sacred to the chase of the elusive reptile before-mentioned are July, August, and September, these three; and the night of the month chosen should be as near as possible to the date of the full moon. For only on a night when the moon shines bright (as the song has it) does this timid bird stalk forth and up the sands to lay its eggs, and bite the dreaming hunter on the putties.

So every Saturday night, and other nights if the moon shone, saw Johnes, the novice, and Broom, the expert, perched on an eminence above a fine expanse of shining sand on one of the out-lying islands. And the moon mooned away overhead, and the mosquitoes caroled joyously all about and on them, and the little waves of the South-West Monsoon made merry mincing music. But never a queeting beak showed above the dancing blue, never a black shape trundled up the silver of the shore. Yet Johnes carried on, for he was vowed to kill a turtle. If such things were, he was vowed to get one. The Turtle was to Johnes, as the Holy Grail was to the King's Knights. And he was an Optimist. As I have said before that he was a realist that makes him a realistic-optimist, or should we call him an optimistic-realist? Call him what you like as long as he doesn't hear you! Anyhow, that's what he was.

But if Johnes did not capture the black game his soul hankored after, in the chase itself he found many compensations. He has now a unique knowledge of the small islands strung like a necklace of sapphires around Hong Kong from Waglan in the East to within sight of Macao in the West. To him today their cunning bays and cosy anchorages are well-remembered "ports and happy havens". In how many of them, after a night of strenuous—or... hunting, has he not slept the Sabbath noons away? What memories are his? Of the runs outward, with the "Lady Lazy" rolling gunnel under in the South-West swell, and of runs home North-about of Lantau lying on a deck steady as a house, with the tall twin peaks holding aloft a roof of feathery clouds far up and over them. Of the gin-and-bitters hour, when all the world of sea and shore and mountain took on 'the light that never was', till the moon came up and washed the night world with silver. Of steak-and-onions and beer at sundown, and how good they were eaten on deck in the clean air? Of his morning plunge into crystal-blue water as the sun tipped the mountain crests with fire. Of multiple fried eggs and unmeasured cold ham in the hungry morning. He has his memories; and memories are the one thing that none but Death from us can flch away.

The weeks went by, the months followed on, till came the middle of September. Only another fortnight, and they could give up hope for the season. So Broom said to Johnes—"Turtles is hell!" And Johnes said to Broom—"You're the doctor. Now, what about it?"

Broom didn't like the look in Johnes's eye, didn't like it a bit. And besides the ice-chest on the tail-end of the "Lady Lazy" had been functioning silently but efficiently all summer. Say what you like, these things count. He had to make a showing. Well, he had something up his sleeve.

"Keep calm, Jasp, old man, we'll fix 'em yet! We've still got Turtle Island. I've kept it to the last. It's a long pull, but if we don't get a turtle there I'll eat my sanguinary chapeau. And we're sure to have it all to ourselves. None of the lads try as far from home as that."

"And about time too," said Johnes; and the very next Saturday evening as ever was saw the "Lady Lazy" at anchor on the North side of Turtle Island.

I call it Turtle Island, but of course you wouldn't find any island of that name on the chart. We turtle hunters are a secretive race, and Johnes is—Johnes. But this much I can tell you. If you leave The Slipway at Two G. M. and keep going you should have your anchor down in time for evening tea. But to understand what happened and the true inwardness of it something of the form of the island you must know. The easiest way and the natural would have been for me to give you a map or sketch, but Editor says it won't run to reproducing a sketch-map for a mere short story what with the dollar being at one-and-nix-worth-mention and the price of whl... formazone being what it is, and him going on leave next year anyhow. And he's got the say-so.

So now to give you an idea of Turtle Island. In the beginning just remember that physical geography was never my strong point, and hydrography is as much a mystery to me as the insides of the sausages in a Chinese restaurant. Well, here's a model of the island right to hand. Take one of your dumbbells—I'm crediting you with being one of these strong silent men and doing your morning score and so possessing dumbbells—and lay it in the wash-hand basin. Then run the water into the basin till the dumbbell is half-way submerged. There you have it; more or less of a model of Turtle Island, sea and all. Get your great imagination to work, and see an island

Mainbocher Shows Art Of Teaching Kiddies To Dress

Striped Note Used In Original Ways

CAPES ARE PARAMOUNT

DRESS, like any other subject, profits greatly from economy of means. The designer who with the least amount of displacement achieves a maximum effect is, always the most distinctive and gives the impression that he is master of much more than actually appears. For several seasons the Mainbocher collection has fulfilled these conditions. At first sight the long, close-fitting lines may seem a simple enough conception, repeated indefinitely. Other designers do not, however, produce in the least the same effect with them, and one or two notes are used here with results that would demand and octave elsewhere.

There is tremendous variety in ways that seem simple yet required originating. A simple instance is that of an evening frock in the dead white which this house uses successfully. It has sleeves or epaulettes of wide ribbon, in loops, the inside of which is white and the outside black. The sash or how at the waist is treated in the same way.

The simple black dress for every day is another instance of the same thing, which is differentiated from all others. The simplest, slightly bloused bodice, worn with a seemingly straight skirt of calf-length, has its V neck outlined with bright striped ribbon, which is also used for the belt.

The contrast has to be vivid. The ribbon is not only in bright stripes; it is also shiny and it has an almost enamelled effect in a dark setting. An afternoon appearance may be lent to it by its being made of marocain, with a three-quarter swag coat to go with it, the coat being gathered on the shoulders to suggest informality rather than tailoring. This striped note is used throughout the collection, and always with a little surprise in its use. It is adapted for instance, to the cape, which may turn back to show a lining surrounded with the stripe that is used upon the dress.

The cape is paramount here. Sometimes it is used, instead of a short coat, with a tailored skirt. Cape and skirt made the suit, which is usually completed by a short-sleeved blouse. Capes most often tie at the neck.

Trouble Eliminated If Started Young.

MUCH worry will be eliminated if the children are taught to dress themselves when very young. A good idea, too, is to have a chart with days of the week and to let the children mark down with a red pencil if they have brushed their teeth, washed their faces, hands, ears and generally made themselves neat.

At the end of the week a perfect record could gain some special treat.

Linked Design In New Dress

Metal Clips At Neck.

IN fine wool crepe which has a tiny linked design in it, a street frock that Lucile Paray designed is in a dark neutral beige.

The collar is cleverly cut in a combination of bow and revers, with a pin tucked edge which also shows on the tied belt. There are two metal clips at the neck.

On a marocain dress with coat, its trimmed with silver buttons.

VELVET RIBBON PERFORMS MARVELS WITH FROCKS

If your favourite afternoon and evening gowns are demodees, don't be down-hearted, transform them with charming variations of velvet ribbon. A few yards of inexpensive two-inch velvet ribbon stitched flat, makes a square clipover collar. Four-inch velvet ribbon shirred into flounces around the shaped yoke makes a ruffled capelet.

Any last year dress can be easily remodeled with about one-fourth of the cost of a new dress. If you will only take a fashion book and study comparing with your last year dress and see what is the difference you will realize that with a few dollars you can look just as nice as your sister who is spending nearly all her pay to keep up with the fashion of today.

Collapse After Interval Against Saints.

DRAW AT HALF-TIME

Although defeated by 5 goals to 1 in their Caer Clark Cup hockey competition match by the St. Andrew's Ladies on the Marina ground yesterday, the Central British Schoolgirls put up a very fine display and actually held the Saints to a draw at half-time, sharing two goals.

The pace, however, proved too fast for the School girls, who collapsed in the second half to allow the Saints to net four more goals. Miss D. Moss, in goal, played a brilliant game, and her effective clearances saved many certain points.

Miss J. Bryson was very sound in the full-back line, while Miss K. Moir and Miss J. Lukeman were also prominent. Miss H. Knill, the captain, also played a sound game, netting the only goal for her team in spectacular manner. Miss I. Kraukle made her debut for the Schoolgirls in the game when playing on the left wing.

The Saints on the whole played very disappointingly and failed to produce their usual brilliance.

The Saints forwards were badly off form, and frequent opportunities were missed. It was only in the latter stages that they were able to break away and obtain the deciding goals.

MISS P. GITTINS opened the scoring but MISS H. KNILL levelled the score before the teams changed over.

The Saints pressed hard after the interval, but missed many chances before MISS P. GITTINS obtained the decider.

This goal was followed by a "hat-trick" by the Saints' captain, MISS M. WOOLLEY, who scored in quick succession.

The Saints defeated the Schoolgirls by 7 goals to nil in the first round of the competition.

St. Andrews'—Mrs. R. Ross, E. Landolt, G. White, M. Church, J. Wong, J. Wolley, F. Wong, T. Rogers, M. Wolley, I. Gittins and P. Gittins.

CHAMPIONS NET THIRTEEN TIMES.

Sporting Turn-Out By Recreio "B."

MISS BONNAR AND MISS CHURCHILL SHARE EIGHT GOALS

Defeating the Recreio Ladies "B" eleven at Sookunpoo yesterday by a record score of 13 goals to nil, the Hong Kong Ladies', champions of the Caer Clark Cup hockey competition, obtained their eighth victory in nine games in the competition this season.

The champions scored seven goals in the first half.

The Recreio played reserves, and were very sporting to field a team at all after more than half of the team had failed to turn out. It was obvious that many of the reserves were newcomers to the game and the champions had matters all their own way throughout.

Miss E. Bonnar (4), Miss J. Churchill (4), Miss J. Datzel (3), Miss B. Pope and Mrs. S. Adams netted the goals.

The Hong Kong Ladies' defeated the Recreio "B" by 5 goals to nil in the first round.

BORDERERS BEAT THE CLUB

LINCOLNS ESTABLISH SOCCER RECORD

100 PER CENT. MAINTAINED

The Borderers entered the final round of the Senior Soccer Shield competition for the second successive year yesterday as the result of a brilliant victory over the Club by five clear goals. They will meet the winners of this afternoon's semi-final encounter between South China, the holders, and St. Joseph's.

The Lincolns created a record in the annals of local soccer history yesterday when they completed their Third Division fixture list with a 100 per cent. record as the result of a victory by the odd goal in three over the Service Corps.

The Lincolns Second Division team caused a surprise by defeating the Borderers by the odd goal for the runners-up position to South China.

BORDERERS ENTER SHIELD FINAL

Club Concede 5 Goals Without Reply.

RODGER'S GREAT DISPLAY

On the Kowloon Football Ground yesterday afternoon the South Wales Borderers obtained a decisive victory over the Hong Kong Football Club by five goals to nil to enter the Final of the Hong Kong Senior Challenge Shield.

Against the excellent all-round play of the Regiment's team the Club's determined efforts saved them losing by an even greater margin.

Right from the commencement of the game the Borderers attacked strongly and good defence work by Hynes and Strange provided good football.

Enough credit cannot be given Rodger, whose magnificent display throughout the whole of the game won tremendous applause. He gave a really first-class exhibition of goal-keeping.

Despite strong attacks by the soldiers the Club broke through on various occasions and played good football with some fine passing movements. They did not possess, however, that final touch which is essential to scoring.

Winner's Early Score
The Borderers worked well together from the start, and Matthias, flashed in a brilliant shot at goal, but it was neatly saved by Rodger. Again the soldiers fought their way up field and his time, 15 minutes after the start, a fine pass to HERBERT gave him the chance to score.

E. Strange handled one pass nicely, but through over-anxiousness he missed an opportunity by shooting over. The soldiers, however, went further ahead from a corner kick which HAZELWOOD converted.

Just after his second goal a really excellent display was given by Rodger, who saved Seale's masterly drive from short range.

Just before the interval the Club looked certain to score when E. Strange broke away, but his shot was spectacularly cleared by Smith in goal.

When play was resumed after the interval it appeared as if the Club were certainly going to have their fair share of the game, the soldiers slackening off very noticeably. How and E. Strange had very hard luck on several occasions in not scoring.

From a corner at the other end by Matthias, which was very neatly placed, the soldiers received an excellent chance and HAZELWOOD placed a glorious shot to give the Borderers the lead by three clear goals.

Strange Lacks Support
E. Strange maintained his steady and very sure play for the Club, but did not appear to receive all the support he required to enable him to score.

Several of the Club's players were now noticed to be limping, among them being Howe, who had a crooked knee. This was a big handicap, and the Club were fortunate to have the services of two worthy backs in the defence in Strange and Fowler. The Borderers now had the game entirely in their hands and Rodger was kept very busy.

A few minutes before the final whistle, Matthias received a grand pass and scored the best goal of the match.

The fifth goal of the game was one of those unfortunate ones. During a struggle in the Club goalmouth, Hazlewood passed the ball across the goalmouth and Hynes, in an endeavour to clear, headed the ball into his own goal.

SECOND DIVISION.

Lincolns Deserve Two Points.

BORDERERS OUTPLAYED BY GOOD FOOTBALL.

Inside Trio Score

At Sookunpoo yesterday afternoon the Lincolns beat the Borderers by 3 goals to 2.

The Lincolns displayed good football and were worthy winners. Pressing from the commencement the Lincolns kept the Borderers fighting hard in their own half. Toyne and Malpass combining excellently in their passes until a well-placed centre enabled Malpass to open the score for the Lincolns.

The Lincolns continued to press and, shortly after, a mistake by Watkins enabled Toyne to centre for McGuinness to add the second goal for the Lincolns.

TWO SHIELD GAMES THIS AFTERNOON

South China To Meet St. Joseph's.

ARTILLERY PLAYING

What promises to be the outstanding soccer game of the season will take place on the Club ground this afternoon at 4.15 p.m. when South China, holders of the Senior Shield meet St. Joseph's, this year's favourites for the League Championship, for right to meet the Borderers in the Final Round.

The Saints have made two changes in the team which defeated the Lincolns and the Navy. Souza taking Gomes' place at left back while Sahban returns to his original position on the left wing. Costa, who deputised for the latter, has been dropped.

Preceding the Senior Shield game will be the remaining Junior Shield semi-final encounter between South China "B" and the Artillery.

This game has been fixed to commence at 2.15, owing to the possibility of extra time being called.

PROBABLE TEAMS

Artillery—Wood; Clancy and Price; Morton, Hunt and Scott; Edmunds, Fisher, Hopkins, Rivers and Sell.

SOCCER PLAYERS FAIL TO APPEAR

F. A. Emergency Committee Meeting Fiasco

The Chinese Athletic second eleven soccer left-winger concerned in last Saturday week's disturbance at Happy Valley, as well as other members of the team, failed to put in an appearance before the Emergency Committee of the I.K.F.A. on Friday evening, and the investigation into the circumstances surrounding the abandoning of the Athletic v Young Indians match, was postponed. The hearing will be resumed on Friday next.

DOUBLE AGAIN GOES UNBACKED

HYDROPLANE PAYS $409 IN TRIAL PLATE

CHAMPION JOCKEY HOLDS OWN AGAINST SHANGHAI CRACKS

WIN dividends of $409, $313, and $335.50 featured the opening day of the Annual Race Meeting at the Valley yesterday. In addition no one succeeded in nominating the combination of Cavalcade and Bright View for the "double," and the nine backers of the former pony were rewarded with $390 each—he paid $313 for a win.

Mr. Paul Botelho registered his seventh win when he brought Dancing Butterfly home to pay a dividend of $335.50, while Mr. H. P. Chanson was responsible for the dividend of $313 on Cavalcade in the first leg of the "double." Mr. Benny Proulx then provided the afternoon's sensation by bringing in Hydroplane to pay $409.

A very small crowd witnessed very keen racing on a track which recovered remarkably well after the recent rains—the sand track was under water. Mr. Frost, the local champion jockey, and Mr. Y. S. Chang and Mr. T. L. Wong, the Shanghai cracks, shared the jockey honours with two wins apiece.

Mr. Dunbar's Rolling Bay looked good in his run up the straight, prior to the start of the second section. No fewer than six of the eighteen starters were left at the gate in a very unsatisfactory start.

Taranto (Mr. S. N. Pan) was the first to get away, but unexpectedly threw his rider, who had a narrow escape from being seriously injured by the oncoming field.

Mr. Woo Tucson's Dancing Butterfly (Mr. Paul Botelho) led all the way round in this race in which the field left the gate one after another, and paid $335.50 for a win!

Bold Commander (Mr. Pih) filled second place, half a length ahead of The Carp (Mr. T. L. Wong), the favourite. Hell for Leather (Mr. Black) was fourth.

Easy For Soldier Of Britain
An indication of the serious challenge Soldier of Britain is going to offer in the Derby tomorrow was provided in the Maiden Stakes when in a field of 21 starters he won from Electric Star by a neck after being left standing at the gate.

Drawing 20th position in a field of 21 starters Mr. Li Shui Pang's Derby favourite, showed amazing speed in the back straight to secure third place by the time the Rock was reached.

Mr. Sun sent the pony into the lead at the back of the home straight and maintained it despite a very formidable challenge by Electric Star (Mr. Li), who was gaining at every stride at the finish.

Chief Seattle, probably the Dunbar stable's first string candidate in to-morrow's classic, secured third place in front of High Speed (Mr. S. W. Pan), who started well, but failed to last the gruelling pace.

Owing to a misunderstanding on the part of the pony's mafso Mr. C. B. Brown's Fudge was withdrawn from the race. Mr. Black was to have ridden the pony.

H. E. the Governor, Sir William Peel, and Lady Peel arrived during this race, but owing to the excitement of the race their arrival was unheeded.

Fast Australian Race
His Excellency's Nell Gwyn looked a perfect picture in the paddock, but the mare was well beaten by Bronze Era, (Mr. Deitz) who got away to a flying start, and Atlas (Mr. Heard) in the first section of the Sydney Maidens.

It was an exceptionally fast race considering the heaviness of the track, being only a fifth of a second behind the track record of 1.21.2 by Season Ticket and Portia.

Bronze Era, second favourite, ran beautifully, and Boblink Star (Mr. Li) also impressed, being in a winning position on the corner in to the home straight, but lacked a good finishing quarter.

Able Amazon's Win
The second section of the Sydney Maidens provided the best start in the first five races, and Able Amazon, the second favourite to win, was fully extended to win in the good time of 1.21.1 from Alacrity (Mr. Charles). The time was actually one-fifth of a second

DRAW FOR PERTH PLATE ANNOUNCED

Nine Starters In Each Section.

The following is the draw for the two sections of the Perth Plate which will be decided over a mile to-morrow:

First Section
Australian Boy, Dancing Hall, Glorious Star, Just That, Mutiny Bay, Nell Gwyn, Princess Angeline, Saucy Faye and The Gossu.

Second Section
Boblink Star, Empire Day, Fanning Fox, Plummary, High Finance, Macbeth, Racing Streak, Swan, and Vriday.

ARMY POINT TO POINT TO-DAY.

Good Entries Received.

Excellent entries have been received for the Army Point-to-Point which is being held at Kwai Race Course this afternoon, commencing at 2.30 p.m.

The following are the events and the ponies entered:—

2.30 p.m., 24th Regimental Race:—Winchester Stag, Tigre, Zephyr, Loch Ness, Sunrise and The Gadwall.

3 p.m., The Navy Race:—Smiling Commander, Pink Gin, Leprachaun, Malakit, Britannie Hall, Devon, Taraborg, Tulla and Celerity.

3.30 p.m., The Open Hunters Race:—Tom Cobley, Orleans, Firefly, The Gools, Boston, Celerity, Toby, The Bogie, Guga, Jack o'Lantern, Ike, Tommy, Aircraft, Cherokee, Cuckoo Eyes and Boparia.

4 p.m., The Ladies' Race:—Valeta, Cloudy Eve, Turnbough, Until Then, Curlew, Skewbald Griffin, No Fear, Golden Star, Gertrude Lawrence, The Dunn, Boukara and Tim.

4.30 p.m., The Ubique Cup:—The Gawk, Esculudo, Wigan, Quail, Beau, Brewer, Duke of Normandy and Tip Top.

China Stakes when Diann Bay (Mr. Frost) only beat Cossack's Beauty by half a length after getting away to a good start.

Mr. Marshall brought Mr. H. S. Chan's candidate into a challenging position soon after the Rock had been passed, and coming up the home straight he almost overhauled the Dunbar crack, who was beaten for the only time in her career in this same race last year, by Sadko.

King's Bounty, record holder for the distance, secured third place from Charming Star (Mr. Harrison).

Hetman Almost Too Late
Mr. Y. S. Chang recorded the first of his two wins on Hetman in the Old Course Plate after a carefully judged race, though he almost left it too late, Navy Hall (Mr. Li) being only a neck behind at the finish.

Mike, Mayflower, and Bright Star went out into the lead at the start, but all were spent before the incline up to the Rock was reached. Blue Star filled third place and Flying Tourist and Bright Star were fourth and fifth.

Field Of 26 Starters
No spills were provided when the record field of 26 starters got away in the Hopeful Stakes and it came as a big surprise to see Oak Bay, the favourite, placed sixth after a promising start.

Soldier of Germany (Mr. Sun) held a big lead when approaching the corner into the home straight, but showed lack of stamina when both Bright View and Macaroni passed him in the straight. Mr. Wong had the better finish and "Johnnie" Heard was beaten out of what would have been his first and only win.

Mr. Sun's mount was third, followed by Sweet Life, Sporting Life and Oak Bay!

Mr. Chang's Second Win
Messrs. Mackie and Grayburn's Brechin looked in excellent condition when he was taken to the post in the New Stables Plate by Mr. Deitz, but he disappointed, being beaten out of a place.

Trentbridge (Mr. Chang), last year's Derby winner, recorded an easy win after Glenegles, Brechin, and Don had set the pace in the early stages. Sadko gave promise after passing the Rock, but could do no better than take second place and was followed by Glenegles, Brechin, Don, and Jungle Jim.

K.C.C. TITLE HOPES DASHED

RICHARDSON SCORES FIRST CENTURY

UNIVERSITY SUSTAIN BIG DEFEAT

Y. ABBAS HAS 7 FOR 13

THE Kowloon Cricket Club's last hopes of winning the premier league cricket championship were dashed yesterday at the Valley when Craigengower, who required 18 to win with two wickets in hand, held them to a draw. The Club, who are expected to win the title beat the Indians, their closest rivals, by a convincing margin in a friendly game yesterday.

An undefeated century by J. E. Richardson, the first in the premier league this season, gave the Civil Servants their first win when they beat the University, last season's champions, by 10 wickets. Aided by G. R. Sayer (53) Richardson added 145 for the first wicket.

In the junior league Craigengower improved their chances of retaining the championship when they trounced the K.C.C. on their own ground. Y. Abbas returned bowling figures of 7 for 13.

The Pope Gives An Audience

Intimate Picture Of The Man Of Many Anxieties And Gracious Personality

By GRACE ELLISON

SINCE my childhood the Vatican has always had a particular fascination for me, partly, no doubt, because my early education was in complete opposition to everything connected with it.

In my student days I listened with enthusiasm to the accounts of friends who had attended the brilliant ceremonies at St. Peter's, and had audiences of the Pope.

I met nuns and priests who, before starting their sacred calling, had gone as a matter of faith and duty to visit their spiritual Chief. I met rulers and high functionaries who went to pay homage to the Sovereign Pontiff; sick people who visited the Pope in thankfulness for a recovery after a serious illness. Then there were the pilgrims, who came, as they are doing this year, from the other end of the earth to obtain a Papal blessing. Last, but not least, I met many brides—(This year the Italian Government presents them with their fare)—who considered that the Papal audience was the best possible start in their new life.

First Meeting With Pope Pius XI
Thus an audience of the Pope becomes an act of faith, duty, homage, thankfulness—curiosity, perhaps, with some. And after all it is as natural for any practising Catholic to visit the Pope as it is for children to go to their parents.

My own audiences of the Pope are so different from those of other people that it is difficult to class them. My first meeting with the present Pope Pius XI. will always be to me a deep and lasting memory. It was in 1922. I was en route for Angora, waiting in Rome till some way could be found for me to slip over to Smyrna.

The journey was not easy, and in those dreadful days travellers, like boats, were few and far between. My luggage, registered from Paris to Rome, had been opened en route, and my coat and warm clothes extracted and replaced by stones. This abominable practice has ceased entirely since the advent of Mussolini to power.

To cross a country like Asia Minor in mid-winter, and to sleep in a temperature well below zero, was not an easy feat. I had therefore to supply myself with extra faith and courage, so I asked for an audience of the Pope.

Although I came with a letter from the late Cardinal Cerretti to the Cardinal Secretary of State, I did not for moment imagine I could be of any interest to his Holiness, except as one member of a large crowd. On the contrary, the Pope expressed a desire to see the Englishwoman who was going to Angora all alone, when England seemed on the brink of breaking off relations with Turkey.

A Message To The Ghazi.
Why was I going? How was it possible that the Turks would allow me, not only to go to Angora, but to see the Ghazi? I had to explain that my interest in Turkey did not date from 1922.

Ten years earlier I had gone out to help the Turkish women organise a feminist movement, and my articles, published in The Daily Telegraph, were translated into Moslem languages, and made me a friend of the Moslems. I knew that wherever there were Moslems I was safe, so that my journey to Angora was not as reckless as might have been supposed.

Even in the days of Turkish misrule the Turks had always been my friends. I had been through one war, and hoped never to see another.

The Pope was intensely interested in all I could tell him, particularly as he had a message to send to Ghazi Mustafa Kemal, which he entrusted to me. He was much relieved that a Christian woman was undertaking this journey, and did not attempt to conceal his anxiety for the Christians left at the mercy of the Turks should trouble break out.

When War Divides Christendom
The Pope's anxiety, in spite of his faith, was a great revelation to me, and showed me something of the terrible position in which a Pope must stand when his "children" of many races go to war.

At such times he is no longer an Italian, but the Father of Christendom. Day and night he is haunted by the horror of knowing that one Christian nation is fighting another, and he must seek some way of stopping it. But what can he do? The terrible strain of this situation killed Benedict XV. The Germans accused him of being pro-Ally, and we accused him of being pro-German, whilst the truth was he was just Pope.

I said to myself at this audience of the year 1922: If a Pope is as deeply moved as is Pius XI. at the thought of Christians and Moslems possibly coming into conflict, what must it be for a Pope when Christian nations go to war with one another!

The Pope received me in what appeared to be the last of the nine rooms. I passed by room after room, crowded with congregations of nuns and priests and pilgrims, all waiting for the Holy Father's blessing, until I came to the fifth room. This is the ante-chamber, and there I waited, after what had seemed a long wait, until I was taken by courteous chamberlains to other rooms, and finally by the Papal Master of Ceremonies into the presence.

Pope Has Visited England
The Pope was clad in a simple white soutane. He wore a thick gold chain and a large cross attached to the third button of his soutane. His red leather shoes were embroidered with gold. A simple, dignified figure he looked; I recall that I preferred him in this dress rather than in all his Papal magnificence.

The Pope, in spite of his strenuous life, and particularly in this present jubilee year, looks much younger than his age. Unless one knew, one would scarcely believe he was 78.

He has particularly beautiful hands and his ring is a sapphire surrounded by diamonds. If only he could wear the Fisherman's Ring! He is of medium height, not too stout, has a clear voice and speaks the cultured, simple Italian that is easy for foreigners to understand, but what strikes one most are his particularly intelligent and kind eyes. He has a deep affection for England, which

WISE & OTHERWISE

Quite True.

New Tenant: "Your advertisement said that this room had a heavenly outlook."

Landlady: "Well, and ain't it got a skylight?"

No Choice

Coris: "But young Goldbags is not the only pebble on the beach, my dear."

Doris: "He is, he is, darling. All the rest are simply stony!"

AN IRISH JOKE

"What's that you're putting in your shirt pocket?" asked Murphy.

"Dynamite," whispered Donovan. "I'm waiting for Casey. Every time he meets me he slaps me on the chest and breaks my pipe. Next time he does it he'll blow his hand off."

UNWELCOME GUEST

He insisted on mixing the salad and threw oil on troubled waiters.

Dropping A Brick

Larry: "That was a plain girl you were with yesterday."

Harry: "Yes, but don't mention it to the wife."

Larry: "Aha, a secret, eh?"

Harry: "Not at all. I was with her mind he might as well stop struggling."

Charles: "I hear that your divorced wife has decided to marry a struggling young lawyer."

James: "Well, if she's made up her mind he might as well stop struggling."

GOOD AT FIGURES

"The manager of the show picked twenty chorus girls in ten minutes."

"By jove, he's quick at figures."

His Choice

"What are you studying so assiduously?" asked Briggs, leaning over his friend's shoulder.

"My doctor gave me some medicine that has to be taken in a glass of wine," replied Black.

"Oh, I see, so you are studying the prescription to see what it's all about," put in Briggs.

"Not at all," explained Black. "I'm studying the wine list."

Grammar

Teacher: "Bobby, correct the following sentence—It was me that ate the jam."

Bobby: "Please, Miss—I wasn't me that ate the jam."

What's In A Name

Foosle: "I say, that Smith girl says you're a bit of a bird, what?"

Miss Snipp: "Well, I do seem to drop in for the worms sometimes, what?"

A New Dodge

"Well, ma'am," said the tramp, touching his tattered hat respectfully, "I thank you kindly for your generosity."

She started.

"But I haven't given you anything yet, my man," she replied wonderingly.

The tramp smiled artfully. "No; but I'm sure you ain't going to waste my gratitude, are you?"

LIFE INSURANCE— an Impregnable Wall

THE world has witnessed some sad economic experiences in recent years. Financial safeguards which were thought strong and trustworthy have proven weak and flimsy. You owe it to your dependents to build a substantial reserve against adversity; to protect them against future financial hazard. Millions of people live serenely behind the security that life insurance offers, that impregnable wall of defence against economic disaster. You can create, at age 30, a ten thousand dollar estate, under our Guaranteed Maximum Protection Policy, for yearly. In lieu of a lump sum payment, the proceeds will be paid in regular monthly instalments, if desired.

GRANDMOTHER FACES GALLOWS

Bribed Negro Boy To Drown Husband.

PROMISED YOUTH NEW SUIT

Franklin, Louisiana.
Mrs. Allie Mae Purvis, a grandmother, faces death on the gallows for allegedly bribing her negro boy to push her husband into a river and drown him, while on a fishing trip.

The jury brought in a verdict of guilty as charged and it au-tomatically carries the death penalty.

The negro servant, Loys Richardson, said in an alleged confession, that Mrs. Purvis promised him a new suit and a pair of shoes to "get rid of her husband." He is also charged with murder, but has not yet been tried.

Lawyers of Mrs. Purvis announced that an appeal would be taken to the State Supreme Court.—Reuter.

ESTATE SOLD AFTER 850 YEARS

Elizabethan Mansion And 760 Acres.

England.
Drakelowe Estate, near here, has been sold by Sir Robert Gros-ley, 11th Bart., and thus passes out of the hands of his family, which has held it for more than 850 years, since the Norman Conquest.

There have been 28 generations of Grosleys since the land came into their possession.

With the estate of 760 acres has been sold to Drakelowe Hall, an Elizabethan mansion, and the total price was £12,500.—Reuter.

THE POPE GIVES AUDIENCE

he visited before he became Pope, and knows well, and it was with emotion that he welcomed the forty-ninth pilgrim from England since the beginning of the Holy Year.

In spite of the Pope's superhuman energy, he says it is the prayers of his "children" which keep him going. He rises at five and retires very late, and he must be, although he never owns it, very tired. There is no chance of his ever resting. Imagine what the strain must be upon a Pope to pontificate at many ceremonies with the eyes of the world upon him, and when time serves is receiving Cardinals and Archbishops and exalted personages from all over the world almost all day long.

Then there is also the business of the Vatican which needs attention, and which he always must direct, with the help of the Cardinal Secretary of State.

In Touch With Modern Life
As an international figure the Pope is very keenly interested in all international questions. His entourage tell me that he has a tendency to prolong audiences that interest him, whereas they would prefer to see him have his meal.
He keeps in touch with all modern thought. He is a strong Head of the Church.

Everything connected with the Vatican interesting, for even so small an item as the removing of one's gloves is symbolic. It is a reminder of the days when Popes' lives were threatened by people with daggers in their gloves.

The Vatican authorities are very careful about the dress for an audience. In spite of the little design they send you, showing you how to wear your veil and the necessary length of your black dress, and your obligation to wear a high neck and long sleeves, a sister comes to inspect you, and if you show your neck or arms or indulge in scent or conspicuous make-up, she sends you back.

It seems incredible that people cannot follow the rules on these occasions. I never mind waiting in the Vatican, for there is always so much to see—tapestries, frescoes, priceless gifts from all over the world, and there is an atmosphere which is unique and indiscriminate.

I have seen the Holy Father at his own private Mass, to which it is a great honour to be invited; I have seen him blessing his peo-

"Codex Sinaiticus."

THE Codex Sinaiticus, recently acquired by the British Museum from the Soviet Government, is one of the most important of all books as well as one of the priceless treasures of the Christian Church, because it and the Codex Vaticanus (at Rome) are the primary authorities for the true text of the Bible. The very fact that it is existent is little short of miraculous. Prior to the fourth century of our era papyrus was used for writing on, and the only hope of preserving literary masterpieces lay in the laborious method of successive copying by hand, for papyrus, almost as strong as good paper when new, soon becomes brittle and friable. Hence one principal reason why so many of the Greek and Latin classics are lost to us.

The discovery and acquiring of this famous manuscript reads like fairy romance, but space admits of only a prosaic outline here. In 1844 a great German bible scholar, Tischendorf, while searching for manuscripts visited the ancient monastery of St. Catherine, hidden away in the terrifying, desiccated Sinai region on the spot where Moses is reputed to have received the two tablets which contained the commandments. In the library of the monastery Tischendorf chanced to observe a wastepaper basket containing old parchments. He examined these and, to his joy, found them to be a very old copy of Old Testament writings. He almost wept when he learned that these were used to light the fire and that two large heaps of similar manuscripts had already been burned. He got permission to take the remaining parchments away, but when the monks saw his excitement, and how carefully he wrapped up their "wastepaper," they allowed him to take only one third of what remained. As he went away with his treasure he rebuked the monks for their wanton destruction of holy writings, begged them to burn no more, and returned to Leipzig. The forty-three leaves thus rescued from the burning can be seen to-day in Leipzig Museum.

Tischendorf then set to work through diplomatic channels to secure the remainder of the manuscripts, but the monks, sensing the importance of their former fire-lighters, refused to negotiate. Happily in 1859 Tischendorf's studies brought him once more to St. Catherine's, and the third time proved to be lucky. This time he was armed with credentials from no less a person than the Tsar of Russia, Head of the Greek Church. His mission looked like being again abortive and he was about to depart when a monk casually mentioned that he, the monk, had a copy of the Septuagint, and showed the agitated Tischendorf an old manuscript wrapped in red cloth. It was the very thing the scholar had been searching for and dreaming about for fifteen years. Not only was the remainder of the Bible there but also the rest of the sheets from the wastepaper basket. His warning to the monks had had effect.

After transcribing the whole 110,000 lines of the parchment Tischendorf persuaded the Prior to present the original to his great protector, the Tsar, whence it found its way to the St. Petersburg Museum. The monastery received about nine thousand roubles compensation. And now the historic vellum volume reposes in London. It is said that the Soviet Government offered it to Dr. Rosenbach, the famous American collector, for £250,000. Britain has secured it for two fifths that sum. The British Government will contribute to the purchase price one pound for every pound subscribed by the public, and an appeal for contributions has been issued by the Director of the British Museum. Many are asking if such expense is justified in these times of depression. Bibliophiles and most scholars think Britain has got a bargain and declare that the new acquisition is one of the Museum's greatest possessions, comparable to the Rosetta Stone and the Elgin Marbles. They also avow that by having this manuscript, as well as the Codex Alexandrinus, London will become the world's centre for the reverent and scholarly study of the Bible.

HONG KONG AND THE NEW TERRITORIES. — No. 93.

The Little Spotted Civet.

A mature female was shot at Sal Kung on 20 February and sent to us for identification and comments. It proved to be a specimen of Viverricula malaccensis malaccensis (Gmelin), the Little Spotted Civet Cat.

In Notes No. 88 we stated that confusion existed in Hong Kong in regard to the Civets and Ferret Badgers. The Carnivora contains four sections namely the Cats, Dogs, Bears and Seals. In the first section are families containing the Cats, the Civets, the Aard Wolf and the Hyenas. The Civets differ from the Cats in that they have longer faces and have more cheek teeth; never less than 3 premolars and 2 molars on each side of upper and lower jaws. In the genera of Asiatic Civets the body is long, the limbs short, each foot possesses 5 toes with semi-retractile claws; the coat is long, shaggy, grey with black spots or stripes.

According to R. Swinhoe (P. Z. S. 1870) there are three Civets that may occur in the Colony. 1. Viverra zibetha, the Indian Civet, "Common in the bamboo-covered hills of South China, from Canton to near Shanghai." 2. Viverricula malaccensis, the Little Spotted Civet, "Common in South China." 3. Paguma larvata, the Gem-faced Civet, "This tree-loving species is found in the hills of the Kwangtung and Fukien Provinces." The Indian Civet can be recognised by its black collar, length up to 32 inches plus tail 18 inches.

The Civet or Civet-cat can be separated from the Ferret-badger or Tree-civet by these characteristics. The Civet has hairy soles like those of a cat and claws on fore and hind feet similar; the Tree-civet has naked soles and the claws of the fore feet are much longer than those of the hind feet.

The body of this Little Spotted Civet was 21½ inches and the tail another 13 inches in length; it weighed 6½ pounds. The tail was ringed with 8 dark rings alternating with white or buffy-tinted rings. This species can be recognised by (1) absence of black collar, (2) presence of alternate dark and light rings on the tail, (3) a dark strip extending along each side of the neck from just behind the ear, (4) feet dark brown. A complete description will not be given in these Notes till at least one other specimen has been obtained. We are informed that this Civet lives largely on birds and that the larger India Civet lives principally on fruits. Further specimens and information about these interesting carnivores would be appreciated.

Those Holes. Our description in the last Notes of the hole under the Sha Tin Pass and the two on the bank was not very clear. The holes are holes in the ground and their roofs are level with the ground level, they are in no respect built up structures. A correspondent has suggested that they may be kilns similar to those near Tolo Harbour and Starling Inlet in which coral is burnt to be converted into lime. There is plenty of coral in the local seas and the kilns at Starling Inlet are in fairly constant use. But these holes are not lime kilns for no one would carry coral a thousand and more feet up the hillside in order to burn it. (We omitted to mention the altitude of these holes.) At least three other people have mentioned to me that they may be ancient charcoal ovens. This explanation is very likely the true one but the kilns must be very old for there is not, and has not been for some considerable time, enough wood in the vicinity of these kilns to provide the necessary fuel.

Charcoal kilns, like coral-lime kilns, are never constructed far from the source of the heaviest material employed. If charcoal ovens their construction must have been somewhat as follows. A bank has been chosen and a hole cut into the side of it, the wood is then arranged in the hole completely filling it, the whole is then covered with soil to a depth of a foot or more except for a small chimney. The wood is fired. At the end of the burning the kiln is broken into from the side and the charcoal removed, the earth at the top being baked hard forms a very durable roof over what is now a hole in the bank. We await confirmation of this possible explanation; if correct then it provides additional evidence to support the supposition that the local hillsides were once covered with woodland. Incidentally there is a similar hole in the bank near Tai Tam reservoir and I am informed that in the construction of Aberdeen reservoir one or more such "holes" were discovered.

NEW GUINEA CANNIBALS SUBJUGATED

White Man's Triumph On Mussau Island.

MISSIONARY'S ADVENTURES

Sydney, N. S. W.

A story of the subjugation of a cannibal people was told by Captain D. McLaren, Superintendent of the Seventh Day Adventist Mission in New Guinea, who visited Sydney recently.

A little south of the Equator is the island of Mussau, where 2,000 natives live. When the New Guinea Administration officers went to the island after the war the natives were a fierce and cannibalistic people.

When Captain McLaren first visited the island a few years ago, he met with a hostile reception. Fierce natives, naked except for a few shells hung from their waists, met his party on the beach flourishing 10-foot spears.

Captain McLaren was forced to withdraw from the island and he returned some time later, when he managed to win the confidence of the natives. He gave them presents, among the most prized of which were bottles which could be broken and the pieces used as razors.

"Now the natives," he said, "are more or less peaceful. Most of them attend church, although some of them still refuse to wear trousers, even to church."

The Seventh Day Adventist mission is the only white man on the island. Captain McLaren, who is the master of the missionary schooner, has visited the island several times since the mission station was established.

Captain McLaren came to Sydney with Mr. Graham Mirfield, who is suffering severe injuries of the spine and head.

Mr. and Mrs. Mirfield were in a plane flying over their plantation at Rainau, twenty-five miles from Rabaul, when it crashed.

The pilot escaped, Mrs. Mirfield was killed instantly, and her husband was unconscious for three weeks.

The captain, an old friend of Mr. Mirfield, left him in the care of a Macquarie Street specialist. Reuter.

MR. J. R. WOOD FAREWELLED.

Retires After 34 Years In H.K.

Mr. J. R. Wood, former Puisne Judge and Acting Chief Justice, and Mrs. Wood were farewelled by members of the Supreme Court and other friends at Statue Pier at 11.15 a.m. yesterday.

Mr. Wood, who is retiring after 34 years in Hong Kong, left for Home by the Rarapindi.

The new Chief Justice, His Honour, Mr. Justice A. D. A. MacGregor, K.C., arrived in the Colony on Thursday last by the P. and O. liner, s.s. Chitral, accompanied by his wife.

WORLD SILVER PLANS CRITICISED

CHAIRMAN'S WARNING AT BANK MEETING

SURVEY OF CHINA TRADE

"IT IS AN OMINOUS SIGN THAT CHINA SHOULD BE BEGINNING TO EXPORT SILVER TO PAY FOR HER EXPORTS," DECLARED THE CHAIRMAN OF THE HONG KONG AND SHANGHAI BANKING CORPORATION, MR. T. E. PEARCE, AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS, YESTERDAY MORNING.

In his speech, Mr. Pearce comprehensively reviewed the position of China's trade and finances, and spoke lengthily on the problem of silver.

Commenting on the upward trend of world trade, he expressed an opinion that although the tension in the Far East and the uncertain political situation in Europe might act as a brake, the movement to more prosperity seemed likely to continue.

The Chairman, Mr. T. E. Pearce, said:—

"The Report and Statement of Accounts having been in your hands for some days I will, with your permission, take them as read."

"After making full provision for losses and contingencies, the net profits for the year amount to $15,206,624.73, a reduction from the previous year of nearly $17 lacs as quoted in local currency but a moderate increase in Sterling, due to the higher rate of exchange at which our accounts are taken over."

"After deducting the interim dividend paid at 1/4 1/2 and Directors' remuneration, the amount available for distribution is $11,592,943.93, which it is proposed to deal with as follows:—

To pay a final dividend of £3 per share (subject to deduction of income tax $6,630,215.83).

Transfer to Bank Premises Account $1,500,000.

Carry forward to new Account $3,462,728.10.

Total $11,592,943.93.

"Some of you may think that our appropriation to Bank Premises Account is on a generous scale, but your Directors feel that in view of the heavy expenditure involved in putting up our new head office, it is a wise policy to write this expenditure down as liberally as possible."

China And Silver

After commenting on the trend of business generally, Mr. Pearce continued, inter alia, "the depression struck China later than the rest of the world and, owing to the depreciation of currencies elsewhere and to the political troubles which have befallen her, it is to be feared that her recovery may be delayed. But much depends on certain imponderable considerations amongst which silver takes a prominent place."

"Three years ago your Chairman in reviewing the position of silver expressed the hope that 'the governments concerned would stay their hands from any measures calculated to make the position worse.' We still hold the view that from the point of view of China, governmental interference, aiming at bringing about an artificial rise in silver, will almost certainly do more harm than good, and for this reason we did not applaud the Silver Agreement reached at the World Economic Conference in London."

"It set a precedent for attempting to control the supply of silver, and though its effect on values has been and is likely to remain small owing to the comparatively small quantity with which it deals, the fact that a successful international agreement has been reached, providing an artificial silver market and restricting the free play of supply and demand, is encouraging to silver speculators. The depreciation of currencies throughout the world has had the effect of raising proportionately the price of silver in terms of those currencies and concurrently has put up the price of China's export commodities."

"It is an ominous sign that China should be beginning to export silver to pay for her imports."

"If we glance at a few figures the position will be clearer."

"Taking the 7 years up to the end of 1930, on an average India and China together consumed about 66 per cent. of the world offerings of silver, say about 200 million ounces per annum. This consumption dropped in 1931 to 116 million ounces, in 1932 to 52 million ounces, and now in 1933 the Indian consumption is estimated to be 10 million ounces, while China is estimated to have exported some 15 million ounces more than she imported."

"So we find the consumers of two-thirds of the world supply of silver have gone out of the market, and although the production of silver has dropped from an average of about 240 million ounces to 163, the total offerings of silver last year reached as much as 273 million ounces which is not very much under the average supply of the last 7 years. The consequence is that over 150 million ounces of the supply of silver remain unaccounted for and are presumably in the hands of speculators."

China's Trade

"I cannot pass on without mentioning the American Cotton Wheat credit of U. S. $50 million which Mr. T. V. Soong negotiated during his stay in America last May. This was a bold experiment which has not yet proved its worth."

"Turning now to trade, the most reliable index which we have in China is the Maritime Customs returns of foreign trade, but in order to make a true comparison of the 1933 Customs figures with previous years it is necessary to make allowance for the exclusion this year of figures respecting the Manchurian ports, which last year were included for the first six months."

"If we do this, we shall find that the total foreign trade of the country (that is of China excluding Manchuria) has decreased some 7% compared with 1932 and some 33% as compared with 1931 which was a record year."

"In view of the notoriously depressed state of the staple Chinese industries it may surprise some of you to be told that the export figures—again excluding Manchuria—actually show an increase of 7% over 1932 though it must be remembered that exports touched a very low level that year. Imports are down about 12%."

"The fact that imports have dropped more than exports has of course had a favourable effect on the visible balance of trade, which in 1933 shows an excess of imports of $733 millions as compared with the previous year's excess of $862 millions including, and $955 millions excluding, the Manchurian figures."

"Taking a broad view of the trade of China, the indications seem to point to the fact that provided external conditions get no worse China trade can hardly go further downhill."

Mr. T. E. Pearce, was supported by Mr. T. H. R. Shaw, Deputy Chairman, W. H. Bell, A. H. Compston, Hon. Mr. C. G. S. Mackie, Mr. G. Miskin, Mr. K. S. Morrison, the Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, Mr. J. P. Warren (Directors), and Mr. V. M. Grayburn, Chief Manager.

AFTERMATH OF WAR, ON EMU

Farmer Submits Claim For £924.

AUSTRALIAN DESPITE

Canberra, F. C. T. Last year's war on the "Emu Front" in West Australia was recalled in the Senate, when Sir George Pearce, Minister for Defence, declined Senator Johnston's (C. P. W. A.) suggestion for an emu debt conference.

Machining-guns from the permanent military forces were sent to deal with the birds—then ravishing the wheat crops of the western State.

Billed for £24 for ammunition used on his property, Mr. D. J. O'Leary, wheat farmer, of Walcoolan, sent the following counter claim quoted by Senator Johnston.

"To victualing his Majesty's troops, £9, to transport of same, £10. To damage to transport equipment in conveyance of his Majesty's troops to front line, £5. To damages for loss of 6,000 bushels of wheat at 31s a bushel, £900. Total, £924."

Mr. O'Leary in a tag to his account, added:—"Napoleon's ideas are now obsolete, and the army engaged in the campaign did not march on its stomach but in my motor car. The well-fed condition of the troops was responsible for the breakage to the chassis of that vehicle."

The wheat for which he claimed, he said, was destroyed, not by the troops, but by the enemy.

This was caused, he said, by the delay in commencing operations occasioned by the war conference between the W. A. Agricultural Bank and Sir George Pearce to determine who should pay the cost of the ammunition.

Sensor Johnston advised a cancellation of war debts, due

COLONY TRADE DECLINES.

Imports And Exports Drop In January.

The Statistical Office of the Imports and Exports Department reports that both imports and exports of merchandise still further declined in the month of January, 1934.

Imports totalled $32.5 millions (£2.4), as against $38.0 millions (£2.4) in the corresponding period of 1933; while exports totalled $27.4 millions (£2.0), as compared with $31.8 millions (£2.0).

The following table shows comparative figures of Imports and Exports of merchandise and treasure:—

IMPORTS
January 1934	January 1933
Merchandise .....	$32,549,352
Treasure .....	$37,969,257
Total .....	$70,518,609
EXPORTS
January 1934	January 1933
Merchandise .....	$27,700,494
Treasure .....	$31,251,405
Total .....	$58,951,899

Monthly Fluctuations Since January of 1933 total imports of merchandise into Hong Kong, fluctuated from the lowest dollar value $32.5 millions in January, 1934, to the highest (47.5 millions) in March, 1933; while Exports fluctuated from $27.4 millions in January, 1934, to $37.5 millions in February, 1933.

either to the Commonwealth or to the State by settlers on the frontier.

"It was a fair thing," he said, "in view of the low price of wheat."

Sir George Pearce replied that his information from the base was that the operation was very successful, and Mr. O'Leary should be as grateful as other farmers certainly were.—Reuter.

Christ's Humanity As Seen By Men

Subtle Influence That Brought Followers

THE EMBODIMENT OF HOPE

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

(The first part of this article appeared on Feb. 11).

AND yet this strong, brave, silent Man, was also delightfully genial in common life. He was the kind of man around whom children gathered with confidence, and He loved to have them. All simple souls were drawn to Him, even the moral failures of His day found His society a pure joy.

He was interested in ordinary affairs, and all classes of society found that He knew all about their lives. By choice He lived in the midst of men, and they found it good to be with Him. He exercised over them that subtle fascination that cannot be analysed, but to experience which is a great joy. He was strong and able and great-hearted, and yet the ignorant and faulty were not uncomfortable in His presence.

There was one sin which drew from Him a torrent of passionate invective—insincerity in religion. For those who made God seem unlovely to men it would seem He felt no words to be too strong. But for the rest He did not seem greatly concerned to denounce sinners. His sin was always ashamed of itself in His presence. His rebukes were the unspoken rebukes of a perfectly pure soul. For His own part He seemed much more concerned to appreciate what was attractive in men.

Impulses of affection passed between them and Him. He did not assume a loving attitude as a matter of duty, on the contrary He loved them. He was incapable of any pretence, and He had the feeling eye that discovers the human jewels which are hidden under ugly faults and clumsy manners. It was because He found some reason for believing in them and hoping concerning them, that men were drawn to Him.

Champion Of Oppressed. There was a certain passion of pity in Him, that dominated His life. For the poor and sick-for prisoners and captives-for all the victims of man's oppression He had an acute sympathy, and was their champion from the first. He declared that it was God's will that such things should cease, and proclaimed a kingdom where they should be no more.

He accepted the challenge of every cruel, evil, unjust and insatiable force in the world, in the faith that God was stronger than them all, and He gave His life in that conflict. He was incapable of any content while one human being was suffering injustice, although He knew from the first that to champion the weak the poor and the oppressed was to raise against Himself the hatred of the strong, the rich and the tyrannous. He knew that in the end they would kill Him. But of that He made nothing, because He knew also that by dying He would win the ultimate victory.

He could not be bought. He could not even be restrained to moderation by considerations of policy. He did not understand the meaning of that blessed word "compromise," and told the stern unbending truth to men face to face. He never explained away the demands of the law of God until they became easy to recognise with a comfortable worldliness.

He lived life on the levels where it is always risky. It was for Him an adventure in which He had great forces arrayed against Him. He needed all His quiet strength and consummate bravery. It was His lot to take great risks and to take them daily.

Sought Solace In Prayer. The strain of it all must have been tremendous. There were times when He had to go away to be alone with His Father, in long nights of prayer to recover His strength, and from them He always emerged serene and strong again.

He never knew the respite of a safe life in a retired home. The crosses on which He died was on His shoulders all His days. He had a great affectionate heart, and yet had to see friend after friend depart, and find that His calling was making Him intensely lonely. He had all our human longings for joy and ease, but had to forego them to be true to His destiny. It was a life of perpetual endurance.

And yet He called on men with confidence to share that life. He held out a cross to them, relying on that greater self that is in every man, whereby he can glory in hard and dangerous adventures. He believed that men could be won by asking much of them rather than little, because there is in ordinary man a heart above ordinary life.

In a word He was the embodiment of hope. In face of His challenge the world showed all its worst to Him, and the rulers of His world openly flouted justice in their treatment of Him. He lived amongst the hum and jangle of the worst possible elements. And yet for that world He dared die, in the faith that by love it would be conquered, until His Kingdom possessed the earth. He had so clear a faith in the goodness and power of God on the one hand, and the latent possibilities of men on the other that He never doubted. To live with Him is to live in the exhilarating atmosphere of great and confident expectations.

Big Reward In God's Service. It was a militarist age in which He lived, but about the world's kingdoms. He merely said "They will pass but My Kingdom will remain," and those who lived with Him—quite ordinary persons—learned the secret of heroic endurance and splendid persistence that filled the world with wonder.

In this later militarist age He is still the same. He still calls for the life—service of men and still on the same terms. He will promise no one ease or outward success or safety of any sort. He assumes that His followers will have in them that greater self that delights in total surrender in a great cause. What He does promise is a health of soul and the joy in life that comes from escape from mean ambition and selfish desires. With Him men know no weariness of heart and are kept young until the end. The clean breezes of the spiritual world blow about their spirits. The joy of great adventure is theirs daily.

Having laid down life at His summons they find a greater life is given them in princely measure.

NEW FORD V-8 for 1934

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The New Ford V-8 for 1934 is now on display at the showrooms of Ford dealers. Surpassing even the great Ford of 1933 in economy, beauty and comfort, it is truly the car of this modern age—the culmination of 30 years Ford progress. It combines the proved performance of the V-8 cylinder engine with two important new features—Dual Carburetion and perfected Clear-vision Ventilation. See this car today and drive it at the first opportunity.

OUTSTANDING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NEW FORD V-8

BETTER PERFORMANCE. Greater power, new speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather—all these result from the new dual carburetor and dual intake manifold. New waterline thermostats enable the engine to warm up more quickly and to maintain an efficient operating temperature. Added engine refinements reduce oil consumption, further improve operating economy and reduce maintenance costs.

NEW VENTILATION SYSTEM permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides desired amount of fresh air in any weather. Individual control for front and rear side windows. When ventilation is desired the window glass is raised to the top. Then the handle is given an additional half-turn. This slides the glass back horizontally to form a narrow slot, as illustrated. Through this slot air is drawn out by the forward motion of the car. This simple ventilation system maintains draft-free circulation, insures passenger comfort, prevents fogging windshield in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cowl ventilator can be opened to supply additional air needed for comfortable warm-weather driving.

DISTINCTIVE NEW APPEARANCE enhanced by the newly designed chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, new hood louvres, new hub caps. Interiors are attractive, with new tufted upholstery, new mouldings, new cove-type headlining, new instrument panel, new arm rests, new hardware. Swivel-type sun visors in De Luxe bodies prevent glare from front or side.

FENDERS IN COLOR. On De Luxe cars fenders are in color to harmonize with body color—wheel colors optional. New enamel finish on all bodies and fenders has greater wearing quality and more enduring luster.

GREATER RIDING COMFORT results from increased spring flexibility. The spring leaves are newly designed for quieter and easier action. Shock absorbers are improved. Seat cushions are deeper, with new, softer springs. New type, individual bucket seats provide increased comfort for front-seat passengers in the Tudor Sedan. Adding to comfort is the new driving ease of the 15-to-1 steering gear ratio.

FOOTBALL

Not to be disheartened, the Borderers attacked from the kickoff and made a strong attack, the ball striking the Lincolns cross-bar. Purcell then initiated a smart move which resulted in him netting for the Borderers.

After half-time the Borderers greatly improved and the game became much more interesting.

An exciting moment was provided when following a neat corner taken by John, the ball was headed by Pugh against the post. After this incident the Lincolns again renewed their attack and the Borderers were hard pressed. Following some midfield play Evans received a good pass and netted the third goal for the Lincolns.

Towards the end of the game
Thomas and Pugh got going with some good footwork, and, after drawing the Lincolns defence, Thomas sent in a long range shot to score the second goal for his side.

Lincolns:—Wardle; Coleclough,
Stephens; Robson, Wildy, Maughan; Clayton, Evans, Mulpass, McGuinness and Toynce.
Borderers:—Williams; Watkins,
Hutches, Whelan, Court, Hayez; John, Purcell, Morris, Pugh and Thomas.

THIRD DIVISION.

LINCOLNS RETAIN 100 PER CENT.

Win Last Game.

The Lincolns beat the R.A.S.C.
yesterday afternoon at Sookunpo by 2 goals to 1 to conclude their Third Division fixture card with a 100 per cent. record.

The R.A.S.C. attacked from the start of the match and Gormley missed an early goal by inches.
The Lincolns then broke away on the left flank and Matthews gave a fine pass for RUSH to head the opening goal.

The R.A.S.C. re-opened the attack and GORMLEY who was playing well, had hard luck on several occasions, the Lincolns defence often being in difficulties.

The Lincolns, however, went further ahead just before the end when RUSH received a chance pass and scored the second goal for his Regiment.

Shortly after O'BRIEN scored the only goal for the Service Corps.

TWO GAMES POSTPONED

Neither of the two Third Division matches which were due to be played on the King's Park ground yesterday took place, the ground being in an unfit condition.

CONTRACT BRIDGE NOTES

By "CLAY"

Article No. 8.

Revaluing the Hand in the light of previous bids is a phase of the game which needs careful study. It is necessary to bear in mind continually, the attacking and defensive values, and distribution i.e. 5 Spades to Ace, King will produce on the average 4 tricks in that suit if trumps, provided that Partner has normal support. If he holds two little spades, three tricks only will be made on about half the occasions. If he has one or none the high cards revert to their defensive values of two tricks.

Under the present day conditions of bidding 4 card suits the greatest care must be exercised in deciding on the trump suit.

Take this hand. South: S—A K 10 x, H—A x x, D—K x x, C—x x x bids one Spade. North replies with 2 Spades. South on his holding has one re-bid—the question is what to bid. I consider that two no-trumps offers the best chance of ferreting out the best declaration for the combined hands. If North holds four Spades he will re-bid them and South is relieved of anxiety as regards the trump suit.

In this example give South one more Spade and one less Club. If now North replies with say two Diamonds, South can safely re-bid his Spades once—This indicates that he holds at least five headed by the necessary honour strength.

Second round calls are in a different category to original ones. Each player has acquired information from which he can make certain deductions and certain alterations in the value of each hand are obvious.

These and subsequent calls may be classified under two headings. (A) Assisting. (B) Defensive.

(A) This is rather comprehensive. If the dealer or second hand has called and been supported or taken out by partner his call if the hands merit it, is a distinctly business one and will depend on the nature of Partner's original response. The Hand should not be re-bid unless there is additional strength not already indicated. If Partner has made a forcing bid—a trick more than necessary to overbid—in a different suit or—No-Trumps—the original bidder even with a minimum opening hand must endeavour to keep the bidding open. This can often be done without increasing the contract.

(B) When not vulnerable defensive bids on the second round are often instrumental in upsetting the opponents and keeping them from a game contract.

The Dealer has the equivalent of a couple of tricks and say six Diamonds to Q10. Over a one Heart backed up by a One Spade call by opponents. Dealer may safely make a bid of two Diamonds.

A bold second or third round bid may often be used when not vulnerable against opponents who are building up for a slam. In this case length is essential—as the only likely tricks are the long Trumps. In these cases—the Hand must be perfectly useless for defence, as it would be stupid to go down 450 points when there is a reasonable chance of defeating the Slam.

Here is an interesting hand from play:

North:—
S—K Q x x x
H—K
D—J 9 x x
C—A 10 x

West:—
S—J 10 9 x
H—Q x x
D—K Q x
C—K x x x

East:—
S—x
H—10 x x x
D—A x x x x
C—x x x

South:—
S—A x x
H—A J x x x
D—10
C—Q J x x

Neither side vulnerable.

North's King of Hearts just about justifies the forcing bid South has about a minimum opening Heart bid, his Partner's call of 2 Spades, greatly strengthens his holding as apparently the trump first arrivals appeared on the skyline of the gap above them. Go-whizz! That was a near thing! panted Johnes; but Broom only lay and gasped and grunted. In his youth he had been a sailor-man, and cross-country running was not his strong point.

So there they lay, and watched the scene being set and the unconscious actors taking up their parts for this little tragicomedy. And when the moon rose triumphant over the dark hill behind them, and lit the stage as with an effulgent but refined and diffused daylight, they could count at least six parties disposed among the long grasses or behind rocks along the fore-shore below their eyrie.

"Now we're all set," said Johnes. "We mustn't wait too long. With all that gang on the beach it's not likely, but if the genuine thing took a notion to lay its eggs to-night it would complicate matters. I'll give 'em an hour to get all het up for turtles."

"Half-an-hour would be enough for this clamjambory," grunted Broom. "Give the turtles a chance!"

"Half-an-hour goes," said Johnes, and took out his watch. So they lay and glowered; and the moon did its devoir, and the little waves tinkled and sang on the silver sand, and the high clean-cut hills loomed over all, dark but friendly. And the turtle hunters fidgeted about below them, one even lit a cigarette—the crime unspeakable! "That settles it," growled Johnes, and handed the reel, while Broom applied himself to his night glasses.

Johnes wound, and wound, and better wound till he reckoned he had about all the strain on the wire it would stand, but nothing happened. "Settled into the sand," cried Broom, the sailor-man; "Surge a wee bit, surge laddie!"

So Johnes slackened out the wire, and took the strain again, with the result that when the turtle appeared it came on the jump and as no turtle ever emerged in all turtle history.

"Hell!" said Broom, "easy, man, easy! It's a turtle, race not a hurdle race, you're handling. She's half-way out of the water in one sprang."

"That's no pleasing you. Take the damned thing yourself!" said Johnes, and would have handed him the reel.

But Broom waved the machine away, and glared his eyes to his glasses. So Johnes wound, and "Coming like a wee lamb. Let her rest a minute 'how she's clear of the water!" said the observer. But there came no stir from the hunters below. They evidently either kept slack watch, or their turtle was as yet masked by the background of dark water.

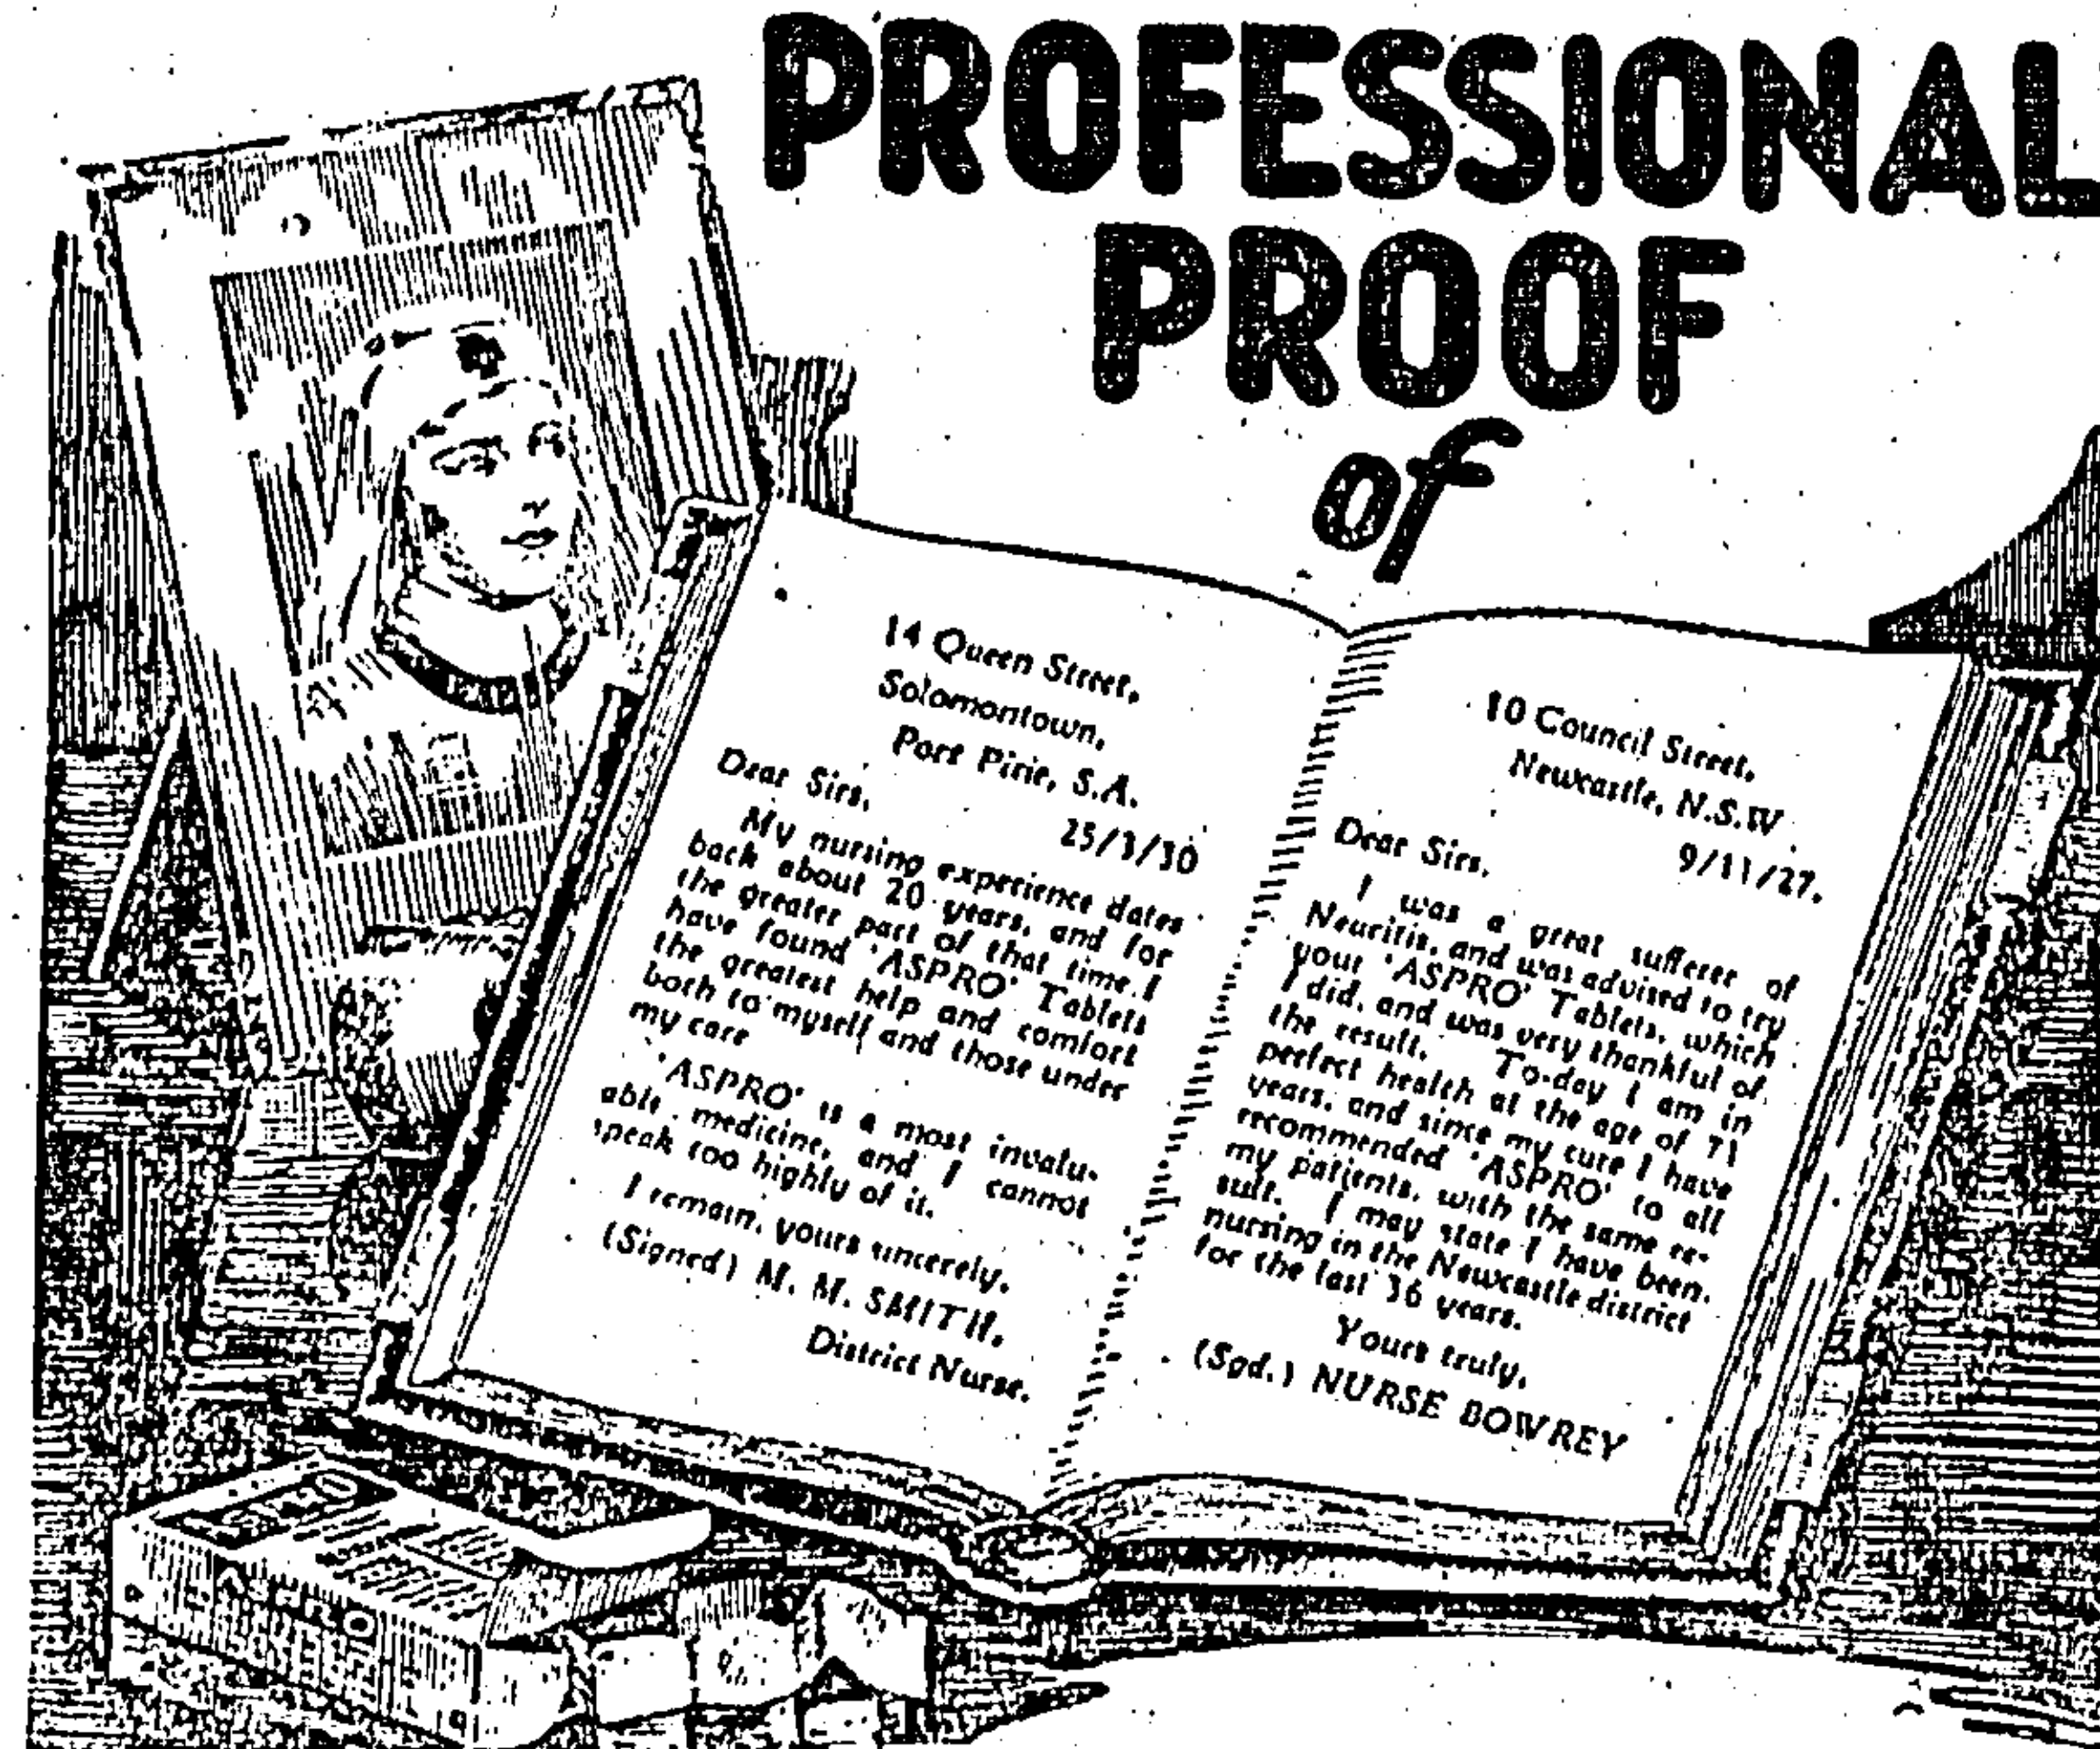

So now all of a shake Johnes wound away, while Broom divided himself between quick glances through his glasses and spells of anxious listening. But it was not till the dark shape had trundled on to a patch of clean white sand that he lay back with a sigh of pure joy. He had sensed a movement below them. The bait had been seen.

Johnes wound again, and now their turtle came slowly and cautiously over the sand as turtles are wont to come, and all along below them figures were on their knees and very evidently preparing.

Then in an instant and, as if a bugle had sounded the onset, the long lit length of the fore-shore was alive with racing figures and the waving of poles. For the conspirators the tension snapped, and they danced and shouted helpless with laughter. Johnes even forgot to slack out the wire, with the result that there came a sudden twang, and the lender of the charge, a flying small girl, turned a double somersault on the sand. The man behind her fell over her, suit is safe and he can ruff a Diamond without weakening the trump holding of the combined hands.

The play needed care. East opened the Diamond Ace and then led the 8 of Spades. This was a significant card and North rightly suspected that the remaining adverse Spades were with West. He won the trick with the Q in his own hand led the King of Hearts followed by a small diamond which he ruffed in dummy. The Ace of Hearts was next led a small Diamond being discarded. The next lead was the Q of Clubs and when West covered the rest was easy. The only other trick lost being one spade.

'ASPRO'

Prominent Physician Praises 'ASPRO'

States That People Who Cannot Take Ordinary Aspirin Can Take "ASPRO" "ASPRO" Effective Where Others Fail.

Non-Toxic Value Appreciated.

Scotland, 29th August, 1928.

Dear Sirs,

I am writing to let you know of my experience with 'ASPRO'. While I have made no chemical tests the CLINICAL RESULTS FULLY SUBSTANTIATE YOUR CLAIMS OF EXTREME PURITY. I have found that people who could not take ordinary ASPIRIN Owing to the GASTRIC UPSET IT CAUSED READILY TOLERATED 'ASPRO'. Also doses of 'ASPRO' are effective where similar doses of Aspirin are not. It has, also, taken at night, a mild hypnotic effect which is very valuable considering its non-toxic character.

If you will send me samples for general use I shall have pleasure in distributing them to certain of my patients.

Yours faithfully, F.S. (M.B., Ch. B.) (Name withheld for professional reasons).

Eminent Analyst's Report.

56a, Great Dover St., London, S.E.1.

1st October, 1924.

I have, during the past few months, made an exhaustive examination of a number of the best-known brands of Aspirin Tablets, and have, at the request of Nicholas Pty. Ltd., made a careful examination of "ASPRO". As result of these examinations, I have to report, after 10 individual tests, I find that no single Tablet of "ASPRO" contains any trace of free Salicylic Acid.

I find the weight of the Tablets very uniform, and that they have been made by some process which, contrary to the general practice, does not cause decomposition, and consequent liberation for free Salicylic Acid. All other processes of Aspirin Tablet manufacture with which I am acquainted turn out Tablets which are liable to contain, and do frequently contain free Salicylic Acid.

ANOTHER DOCTOR SAYS 'ASPRO' IS VASTLY SUPERIOR TO ORDINARY ASPIRIN

Cheshire, England, 7/2/20.

Dear Sirs, In most cases I have found 'ASPRO' VASTLY SUPERIOR TO ORDINARY ASPIRIN, ESPECIALLY in patients who, in addition to varying conditions for which 'ASPRO' was given, also suffer from some form of digestive disturbance.

One case in particular is worthy of mention—A NURSE (age 39) engaged in public health and infant welfare work, since coming to Manchester four years ago, has suffered from sub-acute attacks of Rheumatism.

She COULD NEVER TOLERATE SALICYLATE IN THE FORM OF ASPIRIN OR IN MIXTURES. I gave her several sample boxes of 'ASPRO' and she is genuinely delighted with the results, viz.:

ALLEVIATION OF PAIN, UNDISTURBED SLEEP AND COMPLETE FREEDOM FROM ALL AFTER-EFFECTS IN THE SHAPE OF DEPRESSION AND INDIGESTION. If you care to let me have samples I shall be only too pleased to distribute them.

Yours faithfully

PRIZE-WINNERS AT THE BALL.

No One As King Henry VIII.

200 PEOPLE PRESENT

Mrs. Amps, Miss Wolfe, Mr. Bousfield, and Major Brasier-Creigh were the prize-winners at the Gay Nineties Ball at the Peninsula Hotel last night.

As no one went as King Henry VIII, Mr. Bousfield was awarded the prize for the best dressed gentleman, while Major Brasier-Creigh won the other men's prize as a cyclist of the 90's.

There were 200 people present at the Ball, which was a decided success. The following took part: Baron and Baroness Rothchild, Mr. and Mrs. Gage, Mr. and Mrs. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Skott, Mr. Coutts, and Mrs. Alabaster.

SCOTLAND WIN AT RUGBY

Ireland Beaten At Murrayfield.

THEIR SECOND DEFEAT

Edinburgh, Yesterday. Scotland beat Ireland by 16 points to 9 in the International Rugby Championship at Murrayfield to-day.

A crowd of 40,000 were present in showery and gusty weather. Ireland started with a rush and Russell went over after only five minutes play.

After this setback, however, Scotland secured the upper hand, the forwards opening up the game and keeping the Irish defence always on the alert.

Dick went over for a Scots try, and Shaw converted the effort. Before the interval the Scots scored again through a penalty goal by Allan and an unconverted try by Crawford to lead 11 to 3 at half-time.

Dick scored a clever try on the resumption and Shaw converted to increase Scotland's lead. Ireland, however, fought back in plucky manner and O'Connor and Russell went over for unconverted tries.

After this setback, however, Scotland secured the upper hand, the forwards opening up the game and keeping the Irish defence always on the alert.

Last year Scotland won in Dublin by 8 points to 6. Scotland now lead by 33 wins to Ireland's 16 in the series.
